

Methodological Notes

The pharmaceutical industry in the United Kingdom is committed to benefiting patients by operating in a professional, ethical and transparent manner to ensure the appropriate use of medicines and support the provision of high quality healthcare. The ABPI (Association of the British Pharmaceutical Industry) code covers the promotion of medicines for prescribing to both health professionals and other relevant decision makers. It also includes requirements for interactions with health professionals. In addition, it sets standards for the provision of information about prescription only medicines to the public and patients, including patient organisations. In addition to the Code there is extensive UK and European law relating to the promotion of medicines. The Code reflects and extends beyond the relevant UK law.

The ABPI Code of Practice mandates the public disclosure in 2016 of certain transfers of value made during 2015 to UK health professionals and health care organisations. Where permission to disclose transfers of value is refused by individual health professionals, the transfer of value made to them is disclosed in an aggregated fashion. The disclosure data will be published on a central platform, hosted by the ABPI and made available to anyone who requests access. The ABPI Code requirements on disclosure are predominantly set out in Clause 24, however information can also be found in Clauses 1, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.
